A crowd of men, about a dozen, it is said, rushed upon them from the shadows of cars and attempted to seize them, but they managed to get a way, and in their excitement ran into the wide slough to the north of the Vaughn dyke.

Their assailants pursued them through the slough and hurled all sorts of missiles at them as they ran. Five of them ran through the M. The assailants kept up the pursuit until the men from the mill reached the dwelling referred to and then turned back. So far as known, none of them were recognised.

The Building Trades' Sympathy Strike in New York.

At Least 10,000 Men Will Quit Work in Sympathy With Electrical Workers' Strike.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.-The labor situation involved in the strike of the electrical work-ers, declared on Monday, has assumed a ers, declared on Monday, has assumed a grave aspect. The threat of calling a general strike in the building trades was in part carried out when 750 men employed on two of the biggest building enterprises in the city threw down their tools. To-day two more great buildings will be deserted, and at 4 c'clock in the afternoon, at a conference of the State Committee and Board of Walking Delegates, a general strike of the building trades in this city and Brooklyn will be declared, stopping the construction of thirty-seven large buildings and innumerable small ones and throwing out of work at a very conservative estimate 10,000 men.

work at a very conservative estimate 10,000 men.

The loss involved in such a strike as this, at the very height of the building season, can scarcely be estimated. The threats brought the master builders almost to their knees to the electrical contractors, whom they implored not to bring down such a calamity. The walking delegates threaten to extend the strike still further if the eighthour demand is not conceded.

At 1 p. m. yesterday the 400 men employed on the new Presbyterian Mission and the 450 men at work on the twenty-two-story building of the American Tract Society, at Spruce and Nassau streets, put on their hats and coats and walked quietly away. Contractors stormed and pleaded in vain. In the meantime the electrical contractors, in their rooms in the Building Trades Club. passed this resolution:

Brotherbood of Electrical Workers will be officially notified to-morrow that on and after Monday, Feb. 25, the members of this association will begin to fill the places of the electrical workers now on strike who fail to report for duty on their respective jobs.

to fall the places of the electrical workers now on strike who fall to report for duty on their respective jobs.

The walking delegates did-not wait for an official notification of a lock-out. They promptly resolved to declare sympathetic strikes to-day on the American Surety Fuilding and on the new St. Luke's Hospital, at One Hundred and Sixteenth street and Western boulevard. More than 700 men are employed on these buildings. They also agreed that at the joint meeting of the walking delegates and the electrical workers at 4 p. m. a general sympathetic strike would be ordered on all buildings in this city and Brooklyn. Masons, plasterers, plumbers, iron-workers, carpenters, wood-carvers, marble-cutters, housesmiths, brick-layers and painters to the number of thousands will be called out and, practically, building operations will cease. The contractors claim that their profits on $350,000 worth of contracts that expire within ninety days will be seriously affected by granting the demands of the strikers, and that if the wiremen had kept to their agreement, by which ninety days notice was to be given of the changes in the working rules of the union, contracts would be readjusted to meet the new scale of hours and wages. The demands of the wiremen for a reduction of working hours from nine to eight and for an increase of wages from $2 to $2.25 a day were made on Feb. 17, and the contractors are willing to consider this demand, providing it is not to take effect before May 15.

The strikers declare that the old agreement containing the ninety-day clause terminated on Feb. 17 and that they have not broken faith.

The United Garment Workers of America say they will make it hot for the strikers, because they belong to the Knights of Labor, who have been antagonizing the United Garment Workers.

The General Executive Board of the United Garment Workers.

The General Executive Board of the United Garment Workers of America had a meeting last night at 28 Lafayette place and expelled Barondess and the Cloak Makers' Union from the organization. Barondess had been given a week to answer charges to the effect that he joined the Knights of Labor, the bitter enemy of the United Garment Workers. General Auditor White declared that it will be absolutely impossible to get Barondess' books in which are set forth an account of expenditure of 32,000 which had been given to the King to be distributed among the striking cloak makers. Auditor White said he had $3,000 on hand, which had been collected in assessments from the United Garment Workers, to be given to Barondess when he would tell where the $3,200 has gone.

Joseph Barondess, or "The King," as he was called, has been for a year or more the most prominent labor leader in New York, and no man ever had a greater control over his followers. When the cloak makers went on their strike, which has about died out, although never declared off, the men begged and pleaded with him to accept the leadership. When he finally consented they fell all over him and wept like children, kissed his hands and feet, and made the hall ring with his name.

Barondess was General Organizer of the Garment Workers' Executive Board which expelled him last night, and was also Chairman of the Executive Committee of the cloak Makers' Union. He is said to be sick at his home in Brooklyn, and was not represented at last night's meeting.

ON THE STAND

The Principal in the Murder Trial Has His Inning.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Feb. 21.—County Attorney Nye resumed his cross-examination this morning of W. W. Hayward, father of the young man accused of murdering Catherine Ging. He was unable to shake the old man's story in any essential particular, although he demonstrated that the witness; memory as to dates and hap-penings about the time of the occurrences he described was not of the best.

he described was not of the best.

It is a remarkable fact that thus far in the case, although both Nye and Erwin are adept questioners, neither has been able to shake the testimony of any of the witnesses on cross-examination. Mr. Nye tried to establish by the senior Hayward that on December 6, three days after the murder, "Elder" Stewart had told him the story that Adry had told Stewart three days before the murder. Hayward, Sr., was unable to remember when this conversation had taken place, except that it was after the murder.

taken place, except that it was after the murder.

Wm. Yale, a gunsmith, and Robert Weed, a jeweler, testified as to various kinds of cartridges, the weight of builets, etc. Mr. Erwin succeeded in establishing that the fatal bullet was of the same weight as one taken from a 38 short cartridge. Blist had testified that when Harry gave him the cartridges he had declared them to be 38 long. Mr. Nye strenuously, but in vain, objected to this evidence, and Mr. Erwin was jubilant at his success.

At last Mr. Erwin said he had no other witnesses present except the defendant himself—Harry Hayward.

Harry Hayward took the stand to battle for his own life. He said in answer to the usual preliminary questions that he was born in Macoupin, Ill., 29 years ago, and he had lived in Minneapolis for twenty-five years.

"Now," said Mr. Erwin, "Mr. Blist has " had lived in Minneapolis for twenty-five years.

"Now," said Mr. Erwin, "Mr. Blixt has testified against you and Mr. Adry Hayward has testified against you. Have they testified correctly?"

"They have not," responded the witness, setting his teeth.

"Has the testimony of Adry Hayward given here on the stand been true or false?"

"Almost wholly false."

"Do you know any reason why?"

"I do."
"Explain it to the jury."

"I do." anow any reason why:
"I do." "Explain it to the jury."
"I object." said Mr. Nye.
"Sustained," rejoined the Judge. "I suppose this is for impeachment.
"Oh, no, your Honor, I'm not trying this whole case on the word 'Impeachment,' I want the jury to know the feelings of fear which might induce Adry Hayward to testify faisely against his brother. I want them to know the truth."
"Well, you can call his attention to the particular questions and answer if you choose," said Judge Smith.
"I offer to prove, then—," began Mr. Er-will.

choose," said Judge Smith.

"I offer to prove, then—," began Mr. Erwin.

"Put it in writing," said the Court, and Erwin was obliged to make his offer in the presence of the stenographer and the attorneys, without the jury's knowing what it was. Mr. Nye objected on the ground of incompetency, and the objection was sustained. The Court, however, added that part of it was competent if proper foundation was laid.

"You have heard your father's, mother's and brother's "testimony," said, Erwin, finally, after consultation with his colleagues, "regarding the discrepancy in your brother's accounts. Did you have any trouble with him about what he said to your mother?"

An objection to this was sustained, and Mr. Erwin asked: "Did your brother have any fear of you for the reason that you might make disclosures about him?"

"Yes, sir," responded Harry, before Nye dould object; but the answer was ruled out, "Now, you have heard Adry say that he had never seen Miss Ging. Did he ever see her?"

"He did. It was on a narrow dark road between Nicollet avenue and Lake Calhoun. He could not see her very well, but he could feel her all right."

"Was he alone with her?"

"He was not."

"Who was with him?"

"He was not."
"Who was with him?"

"He was not."
"Who was with him?"
"Who was with him?"
"I would rather not tell, unless it is necessary. The young lady was here in the city."
"What is her name? It will be necessary to know it."
"Miss Vedder. They were both with him."
Mr. Nye objected strenuosly to anything further on this line, and was sustained by the court.
"It tell you," said Judge Smith, "it's an insult to this court when you know that what you are proposing has been ruled out by the court that you try to bring it in in another way."
"I think the court does not understand me," said Erwin. "I meant no disrespect, and I do not think I deserve the reproof. I intend to abide by the orders of the court, but I propose to show by this witness that Adry Hayward saw Miss Ging under circumstances that he could not forget.
"Now," turning to the witness on the stand," I will ask you about all your relations with Miss Ging. State them fully to the jury."
"Well," said Harry in a reminiscent mood, "I was introduced to Miss Ging. I think, in January, 1894, by Mr. Speaker at the boarding house. I met her at first perhaps as often as once a week. After a while I met her as often as once a week. After a while I met her as often as twice a week. Then you might say we began to be getting better and better acquainted all the time; more and more intimate. From July and August on through to December we were what you might call lovers, I suppose."
"Now, I'll ask you if at any time while you were lovers there were any improper relations existing between you of any sort." This was objected to by Mr. Nye, but was insisted on, and the Court permitted the answer to be given.
"No, sir," was the answer, given with more feeling than had yet been shown in any of the witness's answers. "She was a true and noble girl to the best of my belief, both, toward me and toward everybody else."

FATHER TESTIFIES.

a true and noble girl to the best of my belief, both toward me and toward everybody else."

FATHER TESTIFIES.

The largest crowd since the trial began was in the court-room yesterday afternoon. For the first time since the actual trial opened W. W. Hayward, the father of the prisoner, came into the room and seated himself near his wife and boy.

Mrs. Hayward again took the stand, but owing to the numerous objections by the State, nothing material was developed.

W. W. Hayward, the father of the prisoner, was the next witness. He denied some of Blixt's statements, but, as material impeachment, the testimony was a failure. In regard to Adry's evidence, the witness denied that on Nov. 24 he was sent to the fiats by Harry to show people rooms, and came back and asked why he had sent for him, as there was no one there. He had gone to the fiats on an arrangement of his own with two ladies. Witness stated that he was in his office the morning of Nov. 30, all the forencon. Harry was there awhile, for half an hour, perhaps. Adry was there for a short time. They were not alone that morning. This is the time when Adry stated that Harry and he had the exciting interview in reference to the proposed killing of a woman.

The witness corroborated his wife in that portion of her testimony where she said Adry was violent on Oct. 7, and called his mother names which reflected upon her character. In telling of the occurrence the old gentleman broke down and sobbed, and the proceedings were delayed some time waiting for him to compose himself. Half the women in the audience cried from sympathy.

Some Important Local Measures Introduced in the House and Senate To-day.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Feb. 21.—The Republicans of the House have decided to make a partisan matter of the St. Louis judicial bilis. The bar association bill was introduced by Selden P. Spencer of St. Louis, the bill providing for separate criminal and civil courts. In order that there might not be a clash between the friends of the two measures, Mr. Drabelle, several weeks ago, agreed to accept a favorable report on the separate bills, with the understanding that the chairman of the Judiciary Committee would not report same until the question of the passage of the bar association bill, which had already been reported by the committee, had been determined. The Democratic members from St. Louis were willing to support the bar association bill, in order that the courts of St. Louis might be relieved from their present over-crowded condition. the bill providing for separate criminal and committee, and need determined. The Democratic members from St. Louis might be relieved from their present over-crowded condition.

Yesterday Mr. Spencer. of St. Louis gave notice to Mr. Drabelle that unless the latter would accept an amendment to the bar association bill eliminating the right of the Governor to appoint, and providing for an election of the additional judges at the coming April election, there would be no possibility of securing the passage of the bar association bill through the House. This would require an emergency clause, and practically menas that Mr. Spencer has gone back upon his own (the bar association) bill in its present form.

Mr. Drabelle insists that politics ought not to be brought into this matter, and that either bill can be passed if political considerations are excluded. It was understood that the people of St. Louis, regardless of politics, were insisting that the condition of court business in that city was such as to demand immediate relief. It remains to be seen whether the majority party in the House will deny the people the relief demanded, unless the Republicans are permitted to dictate the terms upon which that relief shall be given.

The Democratic members from St. Louis acceded to the terms of the friends of the bar association bill, and have stood ready to give it a loval support, and this, too, without reference to the position of the Senate Democrats on the same two measures. In view of this latest development of Republican sentiment in the House, the chances of St. Louis for securing any relief at all are exceedingly slim—particularly as the Democration of other bills dealing with offices of public trust. This change of sentiment in the House, the chances of St. Louis for securing any relief at all are exceedingly slim—particularly as the Democration of other bills dealing with offices of public trust. This change of sentiment in the House is all the more extraordinary in view of the fact that but a few weeks ago the House Judiciary Committee why first the first all is made upon the bill it will be an adverse report.

GOV. STONE HERE.

He Is Not Inclined to Discuss Legislation at Jefferson.

Gov. William J. Stone is at the Planters', where he has been since Wednesday evening. He has stopped at the Laclede whenever in the city for so long a time that his appearance about the Planters' created considerable comment.

"A little change occasionally is a good thing, you know," remarked the Governor to a Post-Dispatch representative who accosted him in the rotunda. "The Planters' people gave me a very pressing invitation to stop with them the first time I was in town, so I came here."

"Anything special the cause of your visit, Governor?"

to the Penitentiary I wanted to know just how bed things were. I don't find them very bad."

"How about the work being done by the Republican Legislature?"

The Governor's eyes twinkled, and he smiled in a way that indicated he had serious doubts as to the wisdom of some of the legislation.

"I see they've decided to move the capital to Sedalia since I left," he finally said. "That is, they decided to give the people a chance to decide. Personally, I don't know that it makes any material difference to me. Whatever the people want will suit me. I haven't, however, had any time to think over the matter, they sprung it on me so quickly."

"When are we likely to have some new Police Commissioners?" was the next query. "Well, now really you are asking me too hard questions," was the reply, as the Governor turned away to greet an acquaintance who approached.

The Governor said he would go home this evening.

"I have postponed the hearing for two weeks, and that is about all there is to the matter now," said Gov. Stone, when asked regarding his intentions toward Kaiser and Heinze, the condemned murdarers. As to whether there was any likelihood of the men being given life sentences, the Governor stasted that he was not prepared to speak on that subject just yet.

Eight Sly Lovers Meet in the Marriage License Office.

WISHED TO WED SECRETLY

Were All Neighbors and One Eloping Couple Was Anxious to Escape From a Mother's Wrath.

Cupid seems to have established a special agency in the vicinity of 2500 North Ninth street. An epidemic has broken out therenot of small-pox, but of matrimony. Wednesday four couples, all living within a few blocks and all old acquaintances, conceived the idea of being secretly married. They, didn't propose to let their friends know anything of it. Each couple wished to avoid a wedding with its expenses and embarrassments. They delayed until late in the afternoon for fear of meeting acquaintances, and then they started by various routes to the marriage license office. They were:

Ben H. Bauer of 2519 North Tenth and Magels Becker of 2510 North Broadway.

C. C. Jackson, 2516 North Ninth street, and Lilly Lowe, 2214 North Ninth street.

Oscar Rudolph, 2600 North Ninth street, and Lilly Lowe, 2214 North Tenth street.

Bugene Reid, Ninth and Tyler streets, and Julia Procht, 2502 North Ninth street.

Julia lives mext door to Mabel, and they left their homes at the same time. "Where are you going, Julia?" was asked. "Oh, just for a little walk." So was Mabel, but neither seemed to want company, for they separated with mutual delight. Meanwhile the marriage license clerk, unconsclous of the contemplated raid upon his office, sat and serenely smoked, as though making love-lorn mortals happy was not a part of his business.

AN EMBARRASSING MEETING.

Soon there was a rush of hurried footsteps accompanied by little shrieks and exclasmations. The astonished official jumped to his feet to find himself confronted by eight blushing, stammering, embarrassed young people, who looked as if they wished themselves somewhere else. Their separate plots had failed. They were discovered. At length their courage returned and they promised not to tell on each other. Then elight young hearts were made happy by the precious papers they had longed for. The secret was still safe, and they quietly departed in triumph.

That same evening the exchequers of the clergy of this city was enriched by four marriage fees, and four young couples were

PROBABLE ELOPEMENT.

In one home the reporter did not find a bride, but instead an irate mother who evidently has no regard for the tender feelings of reporters. Her name is Mrs. Becker of 2519 North Broadway. Her daughter Maggie, one of the four brides, married Mr. B. H. Bauer, and her friends say she forgot to consult her mamma, but was quietly wed and took the train for Chicago. Her mother positively refused to talk.

In the other homes all is serene. The fond parents are resigned, and unalloyed joy evenils. The sympathetic heart of the reporter fairly glowed with reflected bliss as he offered each in turn hearty congratulations.

Murdered in His Store.

ELLIOTT CITY, Md., Feb. 21.—Mr. Daniel F. Shea. a well-known merchant, was found murdered in his store on Main street last night. Robbery was evidently the principal motive to the crime.

Chief of Police Vanzant forced open a window of the second story of the store, which had remained closed all day, and on the lower floor beheld the stiff form of the dead man lying in a pool of blood.

The money drawer, containing only a few papers smeared with blood from fingers of the murderer, was upon the counter. Near the back door in the second story of the house a tin pan of bloody water was found, in which the assassin evidently washed his bloody hands. Several persons saw a strange white man enter the store about closing time.

On other classes of mill products the current output is of moderate proportions, and there is encouragement in the fact that as the season advances work will be more abundant. The sales of the past few weeks for spring delivery make this sure. A good many country slectric railway enterprises are afoot, and 1805 promises to maintain the

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 21.-Not a few members of the House whose terms of office will expire on the 4th of March are sup-Minister to Mexico if President Cleveland should see fit to tender it to them. Several of them are making active efforts to secure the appointment, while others who desire it are merely standing where the lightning may strike them. The name most often heard, after that of Senator Ransom, is Chairman Wilson of the Ways and Means Committee. Mr. Wilson is making no effort to secure the appointment, and it is certain that he would do so if he desired it.

Acting partly on the assumption that the President will fill Gov. Gray's place with another Indiana man, at least two members of Congress from that State are supposed to have their hopes fixed upon the candidate in the field from that State is Editor Shanklin of the Evansville Courier, in whose interest a delegation is present, headed by the Chairman of the State Democratic Committee. Representative Springer of Illinois might be a strong candidate for the mission, but he is thought to be booked for one of the important places upon the bench, which is made vaccant. Representative Buckley Kilgore of Texas, whose congressional term ends next March, has friends who believe that his familiarity with the country would qualify him to representative Stone of Kentucky is said to be another candidate.

THE BOND BUNCO GAME.

When the Post-Dispatch urged Congress to authorize and the Administration to make a popular loan, it declared that small bonds at low interest to any reasonable amount would be taken in three days.

was vindicated and the prediction verified by yesterday's experience of the Rothschild-Morgan syndicate in the sale of the "New Yankees." Within twenty-two minutes after the time announced for the receipt of bids the sale of the American allotment was closed with the amount of bonds offered subscribed for ten times over. Many of the bids were far above the minimum price of 1121/2 fixed by the syndicate. On the New York Stock Exchange the bonds are held at 120, with eager bids at 1181/2, which is 6½ points above the syndicate's selling price and 14 points above the price it paid to the Government.

The scramble for the bonds was ever more eager in London than in New York. The subscriptions were twenty times greater than the amount offered. Advances of 4 and 5 per cent were freely offered for the securities. The profits of the syndicate and the bend brokers will not fall below $10,000,000.

The trickery by which the Governmen was made the victim of a combination of financial sharks is thoroughly exposed by these facts. The pleas that the Government credit was impaired, that it was difficult to place coin bonds and that gold bonds were necessary to secure low interest are shown to be fraudulent representations to loot the Treasury and bam boozle the Government into support of the

MAKE THEM PAY.

The proposition of the Edison and Mu nicipal companies to have the city forego it right to 5 per cent of the gross receipts of these companies in consideration of their relieving the city from all liability in connection with laying wires underground does not commend itself to the unprejudiced mind.

This is no time to dicker with corpora tions holding public franchises, and it is no reflection upon the companies in question to say generally that no private combination of capital is staying up nights for the public good.

It is fair to presume that the Electric and Municipal companies expect to profit by the proposed compromise and that the city will lose. The cost of placing the wires underground may be found to be comparatively small, but even if it should be large the city should insist upon its 5 per cent of the gross receipts of these companies, as provided by existing ordinance, and then bear its proportional bur-den of the subways, if such a burden industries have each had their share in pany is a temporary advantage.

Circulation is what interests adverti The carrier or city circulation the Post-Dispatch is guaranteed to be greater than that of both the Globe-Den ocrat and Republic combined and double hat of either. It also has a larger country circulation than either. Another important fact is that its circulation is steadfly and rapidly growing. Its cirulation books are always open and advertisers are invited and requested to examine them for themselves.

CORPORATION INSOLENCE.

Director James Campbell says that St. connection as soon as the city govern-ment permits the Bell company to put its wires in underground conduits on its

This is a choice bit of corporation insolence. The Bell company has acquired valuable privileges from the city of St. Louis, in return for which it has paid a practically nominal sum and given the poorest telephone service known in any large American city. It has blocked the progress of municipal improvement and fought a settlement of the overhead wire question by fair means and foul. Every trick, every invention of corporate wit, has been employed to compel the people of this city, out of sheer weariness, to give up their rights and submit to the tyranny of the colossal monopoly. The Bell company demands a monopoly of the public streets and asks to be placed upon a vantage ground from which it can not only extort its own prices for telephone service, but levy upon other wire companies whenever they shall need similar underground privileges. It has played the part of bulldozer from the start with perseverance, and up to this.

Mr. Campbell is to be commended for his frankness, however. He exposes his own game. The answer should come quickly and sharply. The Bell people should be compelled to put their wires underground on the city's terms and without any unnecessary delay. And whether they like it or not they should be compelled to furnish St. Louis with long distance service which shall place this city on an equality with its competitors. Mr. Campbell's frankness clears the atmosphere and puts the controversy within the grasp of the meanest understand-

In making his appointments Mayor Strong overlooked political record and ervices and required only fitness and good character, and as between the two parties the offices are equally divided. It has been a Herculean task, but the leaning of the stable is well under way. Mayor Strong has shown neither fear no favor, but has proceeded with an eye single to the public good. He defied the ss, conscious that decent public opinion would support him. We commend his example to other mayors who have similar duties ahead of them.

THE MAGNOLIA COMPANY.

Believed to Be an Extension of the Fourth Street Line.

It is current gossip in street railway circles that the new line to be built by the Magnolia Avenue Railway Company in case it gets its franchise, is to be prac-tically an extension of the Fourth Street Cable Line and that the money for its con-struction is to be furnished largely by the company. Also that the Manchester people, who are anxious for a line, will take some company. Also that the Manchester people, who are anxious for a line, will take some stock.

It will be remembered that some time ago parties interested in building an electric line out into the county toward Manchester received from the Municipal Assembly the right to construct a line down King's Highway and by a somewhat cercuitous route into the city as far as Grand avenue. They stated at the time that they desired to connect either with the Olive street line or the Market street line. After the franchise had been secured the parties interested said they were unable to make the deal with those lines and asked permission to come down Pine street. This was refused. Since that time efforts have been made to get in over other lines, but without success.

The incorporation of the Magnolia Avenue Company and the fact that its incorporation papers permit it to build out into the county is taken to mean that it will build. This is neither denied nor confirmed by those interested. They simply say when questioned:

"Well, that would be a good thing."

by those interested. They simply say when questioned:

"Well, that would be a good thing."

The proposed new line will start at Magnelia and Grand, very near the spot where the Fourth street cable ends. It would run out Magnelia between Tower Grove Park and Shaw's Garden and would prove a well-paying line from the start, even to the city limits, provided it had connections with the Fourth street cable. It is said that the Fourth Street Company has long considered the plan of changing its power from cable to electricity and that the time is now ripe for the change.

SCHICKENBERG ACQUITTED.

Judge Morris Disposes of the Alleged Scale Fraud Case.

Judge Morris at 10:30 a. m. discharged Edward Schickenberg, weigher for Devoy &, Fuerborn, coal dealers, who was accused of ward Schickenberg, weigner for Devoy & Fuerborn, coal dealers, who was accused of tampering with the firm's scales at the foot of Lesperance street. The case was tried a week ago and taken under advisement. It was charged that Schickenberg had placed on the balance-poise of the scale, a large stone, which made the scales give 195 pounds short weight. The opinion of the Court is a lengthy one, and the gist of it is that there is no law governing this particular alleged offense. The defendant, the Court says should have been charged with violating the section of the ordinance prohibiting the tampering with weights and measures, but the information against him, was that he tampered with a scale beam, and, under the section of the ordinance alleged to have been violated, scales or scalebeams are not classified with weights and measures. The Court also made the point that there was no evidence, showing intent to defraud, as far as either the firm of Devoy & Fuerborn or the weigher were concerned, as the coal, to which the stone was equivalent, was not sold to anybody, no money entering into the transaction whatever.

Emma Hirsch, a servant in the home of Coleman Hupper, 3640 South Broadway, is locked up. Mrs. Hupper missed a gold watch and two gold rings from her room, and although a diligent search was made no trace of the missing property could be found.

Yesterday the girl stated that she was going to leave the employ of the family as she was about to be married. Thinking that the girl might have stolen the jewelry, Mr. Hupper called in Policeman Krekeler and had her trunk searched. The jewelry was not found but a sheet, an apron and other articles of clothing belonging to Mrs. Hupper were found concealed in the trunk. The girl was arrested and locked up at the Second District Station.

ARCHITECTS IN TROUBLE.

Emil E. and George E. Henner, architects, with an office on the fifth fisor of the Oriel Building, are likely to be arrested for forgery. The parties interested in the forgery have been closeted with Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Johnson and it is probable that a warrant will soon be applied for.

According to the story told by Alex B. Young, attorney for William R. Cottrill; the bill-poster, Mr. Cottrill some time ago traded 340 acres of land in Illinois to Henner Bros. for ten houses and lots on Maple avenue and Horton piace. As the houses were not completed, a $60,000 bond was executed to bind the Henners to have the houses completed free of any liens. The Henners falled to carry out their contract and Cottrill had to dhish the houses. When the trade was made and the Heners executed the bond they asked Mr. Cottrill if he would take Charles Sutter, who owns property out in the County, as security. He said yes, and they took the bond out to get it signed. They brought it back in a short time with the signature attached.

When Mr. Cottrill had to finish the houses he expended $9,000 and a short time ago brought suit for this amount against Mr. Sutter on the bond. Mr. Sutter pronounced the signature a Torgery. When compared with his signature it showed that it was a forgery and the case against Mr. Sutter was dismissed. Attorney Young states that the Henners now claim that they signed the name, but were given the authority by Mr. Sutter. Mr. Sutter denies this, and yesterday, together with his aitorney, Mr. Holtkamp, and Mr. Cottrill called upon the Proseculing Attorney relative to procuring a warrant, which has not been issued.

A reporter for the Post-Dispatch called at the office of Henner Bros. half a dozen times this forenoon, but failed to find them in. The man who runs the elevator, said they had not been at the office in three weeks.

An order was issued by the company that every one in the factory be vaccinated, and Dr. Woodruff set to work yesterday. He moved from floor to floor and the boys and girls lined up and marched by him.

The visit of the doctor was made the subject of much hilarity by the younger employes, as it was a break in the monotony of the day's toil, but many objected strenuously to the operation.

Yesterday Dr. Woodruff vaccinated the employes in the main building and to-day he is engaged with the hands in the stemming ropm. The room is divided into aisles, along which the workers sit in small compartments. Each aisle is visited in turn by the doctor, and each worker bears his or her arm at his approach. The question is put whether the subject has been vaccinated before, and then his or her name is registered in a book by an assistant as the doctor scrapes the skin and applies the virus. Then the regular caution comes, "Keep your sleeve up until it is dry."

Some of the employes were sulky. One young fellow told the doctor has he had scratched enough, but he was informed that the doctor was performing the operation. A pretty buxom blonde girl asked the doctor not to scratch too much. She had a beautiful arm, which had never before been marred by a scar and she did not wish to have the mark upon it.

Two pretty brunettes wore pained expressions all the morning and were continually glancing at their arms. One girl confessed to having been vaccinated eleven times, but many said they had never been vaccinated before.

Dr. Woodruff vaccinated 410 employes of the factory yesterday and about the same number to-day. He will, keep-up this avainance.

Chief Dispensary Physician Priest was called and after examining them gave them a prescription, which gave some relief. They were so ill during the night, however, that they did not get much sleep and when the time for exercising came they remained in bed. A Post-Dispatch reporter found Arthur B. Duestrow in conversation with them, as to their lilness. Duestrow said that they were very sick and remarked that last night it looked very much as though Heinse and Kaiser would have a bad attack of pneumonia, but added that he thought there was no danger at present of such a slege.

The jail guards, who sympathize with the two men, are of the opinion that their illness was nothing more than a collapse due to the high pitch of excitement.

CARRIE FROST'S THREE SISTERS

All of Gen. Frost's Daughters Have Married Britishers.

Now Preside Over London Establishments, While the General Clings to His Old Homestead.

The marriage of Miss Carrie Frost of this city to Mr. Carlos Blacker of London, news of which reached the city a few days news of which reached the city a lew ways ago, has revived memories of the other daughters of Gen. D. M. Frost, all of whom married Englishmen, two of whom went to the land of their husbands to marry just as the last of the quartet, Miss Carrie, has done, rather than follow the established rule of uniting with the mate of their choice in their own native country and in ceedingly rare in upper tendom. Among distinguished people of our country the only such diversion was made when President Cleveland married Frances Folsom. But he was the Chief Magistrate of the nation, and the beautiful White House wedding lent peculiar eclat to his administration. In the Frost family, however, the exception has been the rule, one daughter only having been married here to her English husband, while three went over to English husband, while three wint over to English husband, while three went over to English husband, while three went over to English husband, while three went over the form of her fairest daughters by the nuptial noose, was the staunch and ideal friendship formed by R. Graham Frost, Gen. Frost's oldest son, for young Lewis Molesworth, who was his college-mate at Stonyhurst, England. This strong attachment which had sprung up between the young American and the scion of nebility, brought the latter on a visit to this country, soon after they both graduated. The two young men went out with Gen. Custer on that tamous huntaing and fishing expedition, which will never be forgotten by those who participated in it. No Englishman was ever more royally entertained than Lewis Molesworth. When they returned from their Western trip hewas invited to Gen. Frost's house, and there met his destiny in the person of Missi Jennie, the second oldest daughter of Gen. Frost, Lewis Molesworth went back to England and was soon followed by Miss Jennie as his affianced wife. They were married in Westminster Abbey, but the parents of the bride were not present at the cremony.

In time to come the General's third daughter. Eva, went to visit her sister in her English home, and an attachment sprang up between her and Mr. J. Beresford Hope, a distinguished and wealthy commoner. She was married to him in her sister's house by an Episcopalian minister, although herself a devout Catholic. Again the parents were absent from the wedding feast.

The next daughter, Miss Loulse, one of the most graceful and beautiful equestriennes ever seen on our boulevards, departed for the land of adoption of her sisters to visit them. She had not been gone long when reports came back of her engagement to Sir William Vernon, the brother of Lord Vernon, and next in line to the peerage, for Lord Vernon was at that time unmarried. William Vernon's expectations have since come to naught, for his brother came over here to fish and hunt, and met and married's Miss Lawrence of New York two years ago, and an heir was born not long since.

In Miss Louise's case a departure was years ago, and an heir was born not long since.

In Miss Louise's case a departure was made from the fashion which the first two brides had set. Sir Vernon came to this country and was married to Miss Frost at the old homestead on Wash street. Immediately after the ceremony the young couple went to Kennett Castle, Mr. Brookings' "Selma Hall" of to-day, for their honeymoon. Kennett Castle was an ideal spot for that purpose. It had a magnificent bridal chamber, like all the old castles on the Rhine, after a model of which Ferdinand Kennett had built that charming house. Mrs. Brent, Ferdinand Kennett's daughter, had inherited the establishment, and as she was an aunt of the bride, she offered her home to her for her housymoon fay. Mrs. Vernon was married by a Catholic priest, and Sir William has since become a convert to that faith.

The three sisters preside over elegant establishments in London, and all of them have beautiful country houses in the neighborhood of the metropolis. The Vernons are at present living in Sudberry in Staffordshire, where Sir William owns a magnification.

have beautiful country houses in the neighborhood of the metropolis. The Vernons are at present living in Sudberry in Stafford-shire, where Sir William owns a magnificent estate. Lady Molesworth and Lady Vernon are frequently entertained at court from which privilege Mrs. Hope as the wife of a commoner is debarred.

Unlike most of the marriages which American girls have contracted with titled and wealthy foreigners and in spite of the peculiar circumstances, which prevailed, they were all love matches, and resulted in the happlest kind of unions.

Lord Molesworth is a good-looking man, of small stature, and exceedingly bright of mind. Two years ago, upon the death of his father, he succeeded to the estate. J. Beresford Hope is the very type of the brawny Englishman, large and powerful, and possessed of sterling qualities. Jennie tand Louise Frost have both visited their parents since their marriage, but Mrs. Hope has not been here since she went abroad.

Lady Molesworth is childless, and in-her fervent desire for an heir, she has undergone the same severe surgical treatment to which the beautiful Mrs. Ellis Wainwright sacrificed her life a few years ago. Sir Vernon is a wiry, nervous, high-strung young man, who made a host of friends in St. Louis. The four daughters in England are born of the General's first union with Miss Graham. His present wife, like the second, was a widow when he mararied her. Her first husband, Byron Cates, left her in independent circumstances, and she has built for herself a beautiful house on Wash street, one of the most plebeian quarters in the city.

RAILWAY FRANCHISES.

The City Should Receive a Certain Percentage of Earnings,

President Nagel of the Council has so decided opinions regarding the manner of granting street railway franchises. He believes the time has come when all new companies seeking franchises and all old com panies seeking extensions should be com-pelled to pay something like a reasonable price for the favors and privileges obtained. And, according to Mr. Nagel, there is but one way in which this can be done, and that is by compelling them to pay into the city treasury a certain percentage of their gross earnings.

is by compelling them to pay into the city treasury a certain percentage of their gross earnings.

"It is very clear to my mind, said Mr. Nagel, "that in no other way can the city get anything like a fair price for its franchises and at the same time not work a hardship on new companies. A flat rate per year for companies who secure a forty or fifty-year franchise, if made big enough at the beginning to cover future business, would be too high for the company. If made low enough at the beginning to be just to the company would be unjust to the city by the expiration of half the time of the length the franchise had to run.

"Now, if the price is made on a percentage of the earnings, as the company's business increases the city's revenue will increase. I do not think that to license each car, as I have seen advocated, would be wise, as it might induce the company to run fewer cars, and then, too, if the size of the cars increase as time roes on, the city's revenue would decrease. I think the only equitable way is the percentage about he large enough to cut some never. The companies which now pay on basis turn mere money into the city.

CASE OF PILES OF EIGHTEEN YEARS' STANDING.

There are plenty of pile cures which give relief and sometimes cure a mild case of piles, but there is only one which can be depended upon with certainty to cure obstinate long standing cases, and that is the Pyramid Pile Cure.

Endorsements and testimonials are received daily from men and women whose integrity and reliability are above question and in this connection a letter received from the Rey. Jas. H. Westbrook of Bowne, Mich., may be of interest to pile sufferers who have sought in vain for a cure. He says:

who have sought to says:

"I have used the Pyramid Pile Cure and I know that it is all that is claimed for it. I had been troubled with piles more or less for about eighteen years and I had tried other remedies, but the piles grew worse until about ten months ago I used the Pyramid Pile Cure. The remedy seems to act equally well in every form of piles, blind, bleeding, protruding or itching. It stops all pain almost immediately, allays irritation and removes constipation, and anyone who has suffered the annoyance and pain of a rectal trouble will appreciate the excellent results which invariably follow the first application of the Pyramid.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is prepared by the Pyramid Drug Co. of Albion, Mich., and for sale by druggists everywhere.

What St. Louisans May Expect From Consolidation.

Beauties of the proposed transfer illustrated. trated. ventures into one of those Jefferson avenue bob-tailed cars—those palatlal specimens of street-car rolling stock which, by the way, the directors of the road wish the citizens of St. Louis should note very carefully fully. The directors of this road which, despite its alleged rails, would really put to blush for roughness an old-time corduroy turnplke, happen to be the Presidents of the various lines which cross it going east and west. Somehow or other a lot of them managed to get hold of it altogether just to show the citizens of this amiable town what they could do in the consolidation business when they really tried, and they certainly have succeeded in attracting to themselves marked attention.

In the light of their appeal to the Missouli Legislature to consolidate all the management, there doesn't seem to be any other conclusion than this open. They tell the people—Messrs. Jim Campbell, John Scullin and the rest of them—with that artfulness and naivete so characteristic of these street-car philanthropists that when they all get hold of the different roads the millennium in the street-car business will be here. No more stoves in the winter time with icicles freezing to them, no more surly conductors refusing nickels with holes punched in them, no more waiting for a

If you feel so inclined you may ride for nothing then. The kid-gloved dudes who will serve as conductors will only protest mildly with a smile. And after these able sophists have said all this, if some ninny should perchance interpose the objection that a lack of competition would hardly be liable to have this effect, why Messrs. Campbell and Scullin and the rest of these public-spirited gentlemen would swell with righteous indignation and point to that Jefferson avenue lin as a vindication of their position. Those mules—where in the world could more amis ble and patient animals be found? To b

For Mardi Gras, 1895, the Louisville and Nashville Raifroad will sell round-trip tickets, February 18 to 24, inclusive, from St. Louis to Mobile, 316.85; to New Orleans, 420, tickets good returning until March 20. On March 5 and April 2 will sell round-trip tickets to nearly all points South at one li mited fare, tickets good returning 20 days from date of sale, and on March 5 will sell one-way tickets to Florida points at about one-half regular rates. fifteen minutes for a car when it's raining real hard or the wind is blowing an ley gale. Think how much worse it would be if those little mules and those little cars weren't there, and then bless the gentlemen who run the road at a loss just for your benefit.

The stock is away above par? Tut, tuttat shows absolutely nothing.

And then if a car should happen to come along and you get into it, how delightful is take that dyspepsia-curing joiting with the aroma of good tobacco filling your nostrils, while you watch the conductor-driver throw rocks at the small boys who persist in riding on the rear end. These argumentative gentlemen will cite this very fact that the small boys do ride on the hind end as indicative of the worth of the road. Young America knows a good thing when he sees it, and he is anxious to ride on the Jefferson avenue line simply because it is so wonderfully and fearfully made and is controlled by consolidated interests.

These gentlemen will give you such an argument on the true, the good and the beautiful in, the Jefferson avenue bobtaft cars that you will become absolutely convinced that the only thing that will save the town will be the introduction of the fast mule service on all the roads.

And if this consolidation bill goes through we'll come pretty near getting it.

CLEANING THE STREETS.

Why Contractors' Bids Were so

Much Lower This Year.

The price at which the street-cleaning contracts were let was a sourse of surprise to all watchful tax-payers. The Wade Bros. Construction Cq. secured the contracts, undertaking to clean a square—1,000 square feet—of asphalt payement for 27 cents and a similar surface of granite or wood payement for 34½ cents. The letting is for three years from March 1.

The corresponding prices in 1892 were 3s and 58 cents. The Mueller Coal, Heavy Hauling and Transfer Co. got both contracts. In 1889 the prices were 2s and 50 cents respectively. August Heman got the asphalt, the St. Louis Improved Street-Sprinkling Co. the granite and wood contracts. The comparative estimates are: For sig. Sig. Sig. Wood and granite, 29,547,671 squares, 5135,460,77.

The explanation of the situation as given to the average tax-payer was that there had been a closed bidding ring in 1852 and 1859.

The sudden drop in price, amounting to 30 or 40 per cent, indicated to many observant tax-payers that a ring had collapsed.

The sprinkling contracts, also let at a reduction of about 23 per cent from prices prevalling at the last letting, seem to confirm this surmise. The same class of contractors bid for both sprinkling and cleaning contracts.

The next lowest bids for cleaning this year were 23 and 38 cents, by the Hill-O'Meara Construction Co.

MR. WADE'S EXPLANATON.

Mr. S. S. Wade was asked Wednesday afternoon if it were true that he had succeeded in puncturing the ring's balloon.

"I would not say that," he answered. "There is always more talk than truth in rumors about rings. I bid low this year to get the contract. I bid as low as I could in order to save a fair profit on the work.

"All kinds of contracts are letting at corresponding reductions from prices of two or three years ago. The reason is simple. Sweeping machines cost 3600 then, 3400 rt 550 in 1892 can be bought for $125 at present. The team that could earn $4 or $5 then can be hired now for less. Besides, available contracts are fewer in number than in 1892 and contractors are keener and more willing to take small profits.

"It is the lingering duliness of the times that causes the sprinkling and cleaning contracts to go, so much lower. Then, we all know that machines and mules will both be cheaper for years to come,

"I want to say one thing—I am going to clean the streets. You can quote me as saying the work will be done."

A BEAUTIFUL ALTAR.

The One to Be Brected in the Visitation Convent Chapel.

The altar for the beautiful Gothic chapel of the Convent of the Visitation at Cabanne will be a rich and rare bit of church architecture. Messrs. Barnett, Haynes & Barnett have been instructed by the ladies of the Visitation to hurry the plans, which will complete the chapel. The altar will be in the decorated Gothic style and will be of highly polished pure white marble and gold, and will cost between $2,500 and $3,000.

The association was organized three or four years ago, and about that time the competition among the breweries was at the highest pitch. When the association gobbled up most of the breweries their leaseholdings amounted to considerable. Having never entered into this branch of the competition while operating his own brewery. ing it, and, although not generally known, he has been doing away with the plan gradually ever since he took charge of the association.

MR. WAINWRIGHT'S REASONS.

When seen in his office Thursday by a Post-Dispatch representative Mr. Wainwright said: 'We are getting rid of those leases as fast as we can, having never renewed any or taken out any new ones. The fact that we are discontinuing the systemis not due to any absence of competition, for there is just as much of that now as there ever was. Beer is now selling at $6 a barrel, and it never got lower than $4 during the beer wag, when the cutting and slashing reached the limit. I have always felt that it was for the best not to meddle with a saloonkeeper's affairs beyond selling him beer and getting paid for it. The leasing system makes the association responsible for his rent, and I believe that it is no more right for a brewery to stand good fon a saloonkeeper's rent than it is for a whole-sale grocer to do so for one of his retail, patrons. In addition to adding to our burdens in the manner already outlined, there are gither objectionable features to the leasing system, one of the most serious of which is the fluctuating values of such holdings. The leases are always taken out for a certain period of years, and in mearly, every instance the rent increases annually. With a prospect of the premises not doing, so, however, it can readily be seen what a chance we are running. Three or four years $20 a great many leases were controlled by the different breweries, but I venture to say that not 10 per cent of them are still in existence. Of course I am free to admit that by controlling the lease on his premises the brewery can force the saloonkeeper to say that not 10 per cent of them are still in existence. for bids and it is evident that the public of St. Louis mean to take full advantage of the fact that they can build cheaper this season than ever before. All the architects are busy, some with small work and some with large, but the average grade of this year's building will be above the general run. That is, there will be more handsome residences.

THREE NEW RESIDENCES.

Three handsome new residences were added to the list of homes to be built this spring. One of these is for Mr. Lacy Crawford. It is designed in the Spanish Rennaissance style and will be of yellow Roman brick The trimmings will be of terra cotta. The building will be erected on West Pine boulevard east of Boyle avenue, and will cost upwards of $15,000.

A residence for Mr. Charles C. Nicholis of the Nicholis-Ritter eRalty and Financial Company, in the colonnial style of srchitecture. This structure will be in Fullerton's addition to Westminster Place, west of Boyle avenue. It will be of yellow Roman brick, embelished with beautiful carvings. The interior finish will be very ornamental. The rooms on the lower floor will be finished in hard wood, wainscotted in handsomely paneled designs. The cost of the structure will be between $20,000 and $30,000.

Mr. Longstrath will build a colonial residence of yellow Roman brick in Cabanne Place, west of Melt avenue, at a cost of $10,000.

The Belmont Improvement and Property Company who held the other two-thirds interest in the property was the purchaser. The Belmont Improvement and Property Company own the thirty feet at the corner of Sixteenth street on which they have just completed a handsome buff brick building, which has been leased for hotel purposes. They will improve the twenty feet acquired with a building to conform to the improvement on the corner.

The St. Louis Syrup Refining Company will erect a $75,000 refinery at the intersection of Eighth street and the Air Line Railroad track in East St. Louis. Their offices will still be on this side of the River. Mr. J. B. Legg, the architect for the new building, says it will cover an area of 85x175 feet.

THOSE VOUCHERS.

Maj. Murphy Had to Square an Old Street-Sprinkling Debt. An Unusual and Marked Activity

run. That is, there will be more handsome residences.

A large number of new churches will also be built. Probably the first of these that contractors will bid on will be Rev. Fr. Kane's new Catholic Church, at Webster Groves. This building has been long talked of and plans were made some time ago. They have since been altered and improved and the structure, according to the present plans which were prepared by Messrs. Barnett, Haynes & Barnett, will be a very handsome one in the early English Gothic style. The exterior of the building will be of quarry-faced stone. The interior will be divided into naves and aisles. A clear story effect has been used for more parfect light and ventilation and to better bring out the Gothic architecture. The building will cost $25,000 and work on it will be commenced in about sixty days. THREE NEW RESIDENCES.

Three handsome new residences were added to the list of homes to be built this is revealed a curious state of affairs, in which Street Commissioner Murphy either exceeded his authority in his attempt to please property owners and bicyclists or else the sprinkling contractors did extrawork for nothing and do not desire to collect their just dues, which isn't likely.

During the summer of 1892 the cyclists were continually complaining to Maj. Murphy that the contractors were slopping water on the asphaltum streets, so that it was well nigh impossible to ride a bicycle over them without endangering life or spattering clothing with mud. The wheelmen are apower politically and their efforts were felt in the last municipal election, and so Maj. Murphy desired to please them. For a time he stopped the sprinkling of the asphaltum streets altogether and attempted to clean them with a dry sweep.

The Street Commissioner ordered the contractors to procure wagons that would throw a fine spray upon the surface of the asphaltum streets and to increase the number of trips over them from four to six or eight. The city ordinance provides that the streets shall be sprinkled four times a day, and the contracts with the sprinkling men provided the same thing, consequently additional trips had to be paid for extra.

Money did not seem to worry the Street Commissioner, and he gave no thought to the bills until the time for payment rolled around. The contractors receive their paymonthly, and when they called for their money the Street Commissioner had none to pay them beyond the regular contract.

Wm. L. Johnson was the Superintendent at the time the trouble occurred, and he had money the Street Commissioner had none to pay them beyond the regular contract.

Wm. L. Johnson was the Superintendent at the time the trouble occurred, and he had the administration of this emergency fund. As a rule, he returned to the Street Department more than half of this sum, it being necessary to expend only about $2,000. When Maj. Murphy found himself in a quandary the existence of this fund occurred to him. He went to Mr. Johnson and suggested that the extra sprinkling during the summer might be paid from it. When he found that Mr. Johnson did not use all of the money he instructed his subordinate to charge against the fund twenty wasons a day at $5 each until the $2,760 was obtained.

Then the Street Commissioner turned in the vouchers for work done in the freesing weather of January, 1888, when the duty was performed during the balmy summer of 1892 on the authority of Maj. Murphy.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Edgar W. Nye, known to fame as "Bill" Nye, arrived in New York yesterday from Nassau on the little steamer Antilla. He had been wrecked on the Ward Line steamer Clenfuegos near Nassau on Feb. 4. He hastened to the Kensington Hotel, Fifth avenue and Fifteenth street, hired a room, and began writing letters to kinsfolk and friends to tell them of his arrival.

He wore as blue nautical suit and yachting cap when a reporter arrived. In the top button, given him as a souvenir by the steward of the Clenfugos.

"That is the badge of the Independent Order of Shipwrecked Mariners," he said. He had another souvenir, a table cover, which was written over with autogravity of the ship wrecked passenthers. When was saked how it felt to be a shipwrecked humorist.

"A shipwrecked humorist," he said, is a melancholy object. It is not pleasant to see a funny man on a coral island, subsisting on a diet of Boston baked beans, with wild cannibals dancing around him. Just see what people sunfar for pleasure. Sometimes, as Josiah Allen's wife says, it becomes laborious, and a pleasure was a whole party on that darned Clenfugos. Everybody was off for a winter pleasure trip to the sunny tropics. The end of it was that they were hauled out of bed in the darkness and rain. I had not been out of my stateroom was it the stern, and the ship settled very guickly at the stern. The first shole in the versal. Everybody put on life preserviers. The assistant purser—lifs name is Pemberton—jumped out of bed about half asleep and yelled to the other fellows in the bunk. Jump up, Jump up, for God's sake. We are sinking. As he shouted he tried to put his feet in the sleeves of his coat and kept cussing because, at this opportune moment, his pants would not fit him.

the Stuck Valley, ten miles east of Tacoma. To carry out the project the White River Water Power Co., with a capital of $2,000,000, has been incorporated under the laws of New Jersey. Water power is to be secured by tapping White River below Buckley, from which, by a simple conveyance of an open ditch, it will be carried to Lake Tappa, near Sumner, which will be utilized as a storage reservoir.

ner, which will be utilized as a storage reservoir.

The lake is three miles long, a third of a mile wide and 100 feet deep. From the end of the lake, by a flume over a natural grade, the water is to be diverted to the edge of the bluff overhanging Stuck Valley, giving a fall of 400 to 500 feet to the power-house, where will be located a generator capable of developing 25,000 horse-power, without counting the surplus power stored in Lake Tappa, by use of which 50,000 horse-power can be developed.

It is calculated that Tacoma and Seattle can use 5,000 horse-power and other towns 3,000, leaving 12,000 horse-power to meet the natural growth of the two cities. An expert sent here by the Westinghouse company has pronounced the scheme feasible.

STATE LEGISLATURES.

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 21.-Kansas seems likely to have to fight the prohibition war over. Yesterday petitions with 40,000 signatures were presented in the House asking the resubmission of the prohibition liquor amendment to the Constitution. A counter petition in favor of the present law was also presented, and both were referred to the Committee on Temperance.

also presented, and both were referred to the Committee on Temperance.

The bill appropriating $50,000 for work on the State Capitol building and providing for a levy of one-fourth mill tax for the next two years to continue the work was recommended for passage.

The House passed a bill providing for a State Irrigation Commission and appropriating $50,000 for expenses.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 21.—As a result of the recent developments in the affairs of the late Treasurer Ramsay Representative Berry has introduced a bill to prevent the custodians of public funds from using such funds for the benefit of themselves or their friends. It is a bill "to define the duties of custodians of public funds."

NASHUA, N. H., Feb. 21.—An act fixing the age of consent for both males and females at 18 years passed the State Legislature yesterday. In making this law New Hampshire is the first State in the Union to fix an age of consent for boys, and the third to raise the age for girls to 18 years. Wyoming and Kansas have placed the limit at that age.

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 21.—A joint resolution was introduced in the Senate yesterday by Senator Presier to amend the Constitution so as to provide for the formation of irrigation districts and the levy and collection of a tax therein for the construction, purchase and maintenance of a system of irrigation works.

OBJECTS TO BEING SHADOWED.

Filed an Injunction Suit. BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 21.-Attorney Thomas C. Chappel has filed an injunction suit to restrain Attorney David Stewart suit to restrain Attorney David Stewart from employing detectives to shadow him. The resulting mystery was solved by the filing of a suit by Mrs. Mary Bell Chappell for the annulment of an ante-nupital contract which, she alleges. Thomas C. Chappel got her to sign by false pretenses, David Stewart being her attornay. They were married in Boston in 1891. By the agreement each walved his or her interest in the other's property. She had little or none, and now says he refuses to support her.

IMPROVING ROLLING MILLS.

Eastern Manufacturers Find They Can

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—The Iron Age to-day says: "In spite of the continued low prices of Iron and steel products a more hopeful feeling is spreading among Eastern manufacturers. This is due principally to the fact that costs have been steadily manufacturers. This is due principally to the fact that costs have been steadily crowded down, until now makers feel that they are partly safe in their own territory. This applies to pig Iron as well as to steel. With modern improved practice basic open hearth steel can be produced in the East at a cost very close to the price at which Western and Bessemer can be laid down in the Eastern markets. This has inspired so much confidence that considerable improvements in rolling mill and steel plants are either under way or in contemplation. The current week has brought little that is sensational. In Bessemer pig Pittsburg records the sale of one ten-thousand-ton block at $10, but has done relatively little in steel billets or wire rods. On the whole the market is steady.

"The advance in the prices of wrought iron pipes seems to have had the usual effect of causing buyers to test the sincerity of sellers by keeping out of the market.

"In metals an advance in tin is noted. Copper is weaker, while lead has declined under the pressure of moderate sales."

J. J. ASTOR REJECTED. The Coaching Club Says He Cannot Drive Four Horses.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—John Jacob Astor's application for membership in the Coaching Club has been rejected just because he is not able to drive four horses in a manner satisfactory to the members.

The first article of the club's constitution reads: No one shall be eligible for membership in the Coaching Club unless the candidate shall exhibit to the officers of the club satisfactory evidence of his ability to drive four horses.

This article has been strictly adhered to. If this provision had not been carried out the club to-day might have had 500 or more members, instead of forty-five, which is the present membership. Special to The Post-Dispatch.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., Feb. 21.—Elmer Clap-saddle, calling himself, the "Seventh An-rel," is living a hermit's life at Six Mile Pond. He is about twenty-five years old and is a religious enthusiast, having re-cently published a book called "Key to the Bible." In both dress and manner he is coestric.

HIS FOURTH ELOPEMENT.

The Story Told in Mrs. Nannie V. Hines' BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 21.-The petition for divorce filed here by Mrs. Nannie Hines of Salamanca, charges William H. Hines with eloping with three other women after with eloping with three other women after he had eloped with the plaintiff. The plaintiff was 18-year-old Nannie McLeod when she met W. H. Hines of St. Paul. She ran away from Salamanca with him and lived a year with him in St. Paul. There Hines met Lillian Burlington, an actress, and ran away with her in August, 1892. After a few months, Hines returned to his wife but meeting Mrs. Rudolph of St. Paul, A year later skipped out with her. They were caught in Portland, Ore., and once more Hines went back to his wife. Later Hines took Miss Blanche King of Superior City, Wis., to live with him in Chicago. This was more than Nannie could bear, and she returned home and filed her suit for legal separation.

At that time I thought from looking at them that the price of ladies' hats round of milliner's windows on wet days so that no 5 shillings, but this is a complete mistake. The cost of ladies' hats varies according to what is not on them; is to say, half a sovereign extra is an extra for taking out the feather, and as extra for taking out what a mard call a hat, and leaving only one bowlibon. As almost nothing is the fashow, hats are unusually dear this seasow, hats are unusually dear this seasow, hats are unusually dear this seasow, hat a say for a lady's hat, however, the rail, a small matter. The diffy is to go into a shop in cold and buy one. queror of Tom Sullivan, will have to come to this country if he wants a match with Gaudaur, unless the latter is offered extraordinary inducements to cross the Atlantic.

"I issued a challenge on behalf of Jake some time ago," said Mr. St. John, "in which I offered to bet $2,000 against $1,500 that he could beat any oarsman in the world over a three-mile course with a turn, the race to be rowed in this country. This defy was published in Boston, and it still holds good. Harding can get a match on these conditions, and I think it is a very liberal offer.

"The rowing races on the Thames generthese conditions, and I think it is a very liberal offer.

"The rowing races on the Thames generally take place in the afternoon when the tide is flowing out." Now when the tide is flowing out." Now when the tide comes in it shoots along on one side of the river, and when it goes out the current takes the other side. Accordingly, when the oarsmen toss-up for positions on the river, the winner always takes the side with the current, leaving the dead water to his opponent. This advantage is quite a factor in the race when two evenly-matched oarsmen come together. I demonstrated it conclusively after Beach defeated Gaudaur by throwing two logs into the water on each side of the river, and it is needless to say that the one which had the aid of the current was in front by quite a margin after they drifted only a short distance.

"However, Jake is confident he can beat Harding and, although preferring to have him come to this country, he may be induced to row the English champion on the other side, providing they make him the right kind of an offer. In my last letter from Jake he told me he had just closed a contract to act as guide for a party of Englishmen who wanted to do some hunting on the Canadian forests."

bitten in the neck and strangled to death by a ferocious stallion on a farm near Belleville the other day. Coffee Cake had been turned out by his owner and was roaming around in the pasture when he was attacked by the savage stallion. The unfortunate gelding made a game fight, but when the stallion got his teeth into Coffee Cake's neck he closed down on the gelding's windpipe and soon ended the struggle. Coffee Cake raced at East St. Louis two years ago and is well remembered by the local turnites. His owner expected to campaign him this season.

M. N. Macfarlan, secretary of the Little Rock Jookey Club, writes that the track at that point is in good shape and that the horses in winter quarters there are working steadily. "John C. Gray," he writes. "Is here with fourteen head. Henry Higsins has his string of eight head at Hot Springs. E. C. Headley came here with nine head, including John Cooper, but he lost one by blood poisoning, a 2-year-old by imp. Adel-Harry McDanleis is here with twelve head, including Glad and Shield Bearer. William McGulgan has sixteen had, and I think some good ones. The racing programme for our meeting together with the weights for the Boundless Handleap, will be announced the first of next month."

According to Clem Creveling, who has just returned from Hot Springs, racing may commence there again on March I. "Manager Cumningham will arrive in St. Louis Thursday," says Creveling, "and he will know by that time for certain whether it will be advisable to start up again or not, it snowed every day we ran last week, and our patrons could not get used to paying at the gate. With free admission Saturday, however, we couldn't begin to accommodate the people, and believe a good betting crowd can be gotten out to the track in that way if it is reopened next month."

THAT PYEFFEB CASE. Said That the League Will Throw Fred Down.

There are whisperings that have it that the docility of the League in the Pfeffer reinstatement case is but the veneer over a deep-roded plot to "throw sown" the star second baseman at the negling of the League, says Frank Hough in the Philadelphia Press. The talk about the willingness of the magnates to restore Fred's standing can be traced to nothing more substantial than rumor, and none of these that have been looked up ever lead anywhere near to the door of anybody who will have a vote on the proposition. Should the League decline to reinstate Ffeffer, his friends claim that they will organize a series of boycotting circles, which will tell heavily on the receipts in Chicago and other big towns.

A base-ball enthusiast in this city, who claims that his predictions have come out pretty accurately for several past years, places the positions of the first six clubs as follows: Cleveland, Pittsburg, Philadelphia, Boston, New York, Baltimore. It will be noticed that the order is the reverse of that of the year 1894. Cheer up, President Roblem.—Boston Herald.

Chicago Cyclists Confident of Downing the Bicycle Tax Bill.

the Bioyole Tax Bill.

Messrs Clark, Roth, Gardner and Fanning, representing the Associated Cycling Clubs of Chicago, went to the Council meeting last night and lobbled against the tax ordinance introduced by Adderman Ballard. The measure was sent to the Judielary Committee, and that body was taken in hand by the cyclists. There are thirtsen members of this committee, and before the wheelmen left the City Hall they had secured the virtual pledges of seven of the members to vote against the tax bill.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

A French genius has patented a dog defender for wheelmen's use. The invention consists of a shoe with a sharp from point to it, with which the rider is expected to hick the stuffing out of the offending dog. The idea is not a new one. Military shoes in the thirteenth certitury were tipped with steel spikes, which the knight used as an offensive weapon. More than one man was killed by a kick from these iron-clad boots.

President Luscomb's administration of League of American Wheelmen affairs has not been in any way remarkable, and on vacating office the flourish of trumpets so conspicuously heard when he was slected was noteworthy by its absence.

Jim Hall Will Fight With Maher Against

Jim Hali realizes that another defeat means oblivion for him, and it will not be the fault of condition if he does not beat Peter Maher in Boston-next Friday night. Hall is training at Grosse Pointe, near the junction of Lake Ste. Claire, and the Detroit River. A dancing room has been fitted into a gymnasium with all necessary paraphernalia, and there is plenty of good going for road work. Louis La May, once middleweight champion of the State, spars with him, although Hall devotes more time to bag punching. Hall was entirely ato light when he met Baker and Woods in Chicago, but is now up to 170 stripped.

The articles of agreement signed by Peter

The articles of agreement signed by Peter Maher and Steve O'Donnell call for a scientific boxing contest with gloves, according to Marquis of Queensberry rules, the acceptance of the club under whose auspices the contest shall take place to be according to mutual agreement between Managers Quinn and Brady. The referee will be named by the club signing the contest, but he must be satisfactory to both principals. It was further agreed that the referee shall render a decision at the finish, providing that both men are on their feet at the call of time. In case of interference the referee to award the decision to whichever of the principals who, in his judgment, has the best of the contest up to the time of said interference.

Tommy Ryan is anxious to have Billy Smith defeat Joe Walcott for two reasons. One is that it takes the colored boxer out of his way, and the other is that he wants to get on another match with Smith. He is willing to come to Boston and second Smith in the contest.

COLLEGE ATHLETICS.

Meet Saturday in New York.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—One of the many important matters to be considered at the annual meeting of the Intercollegiate annual meeting of the Intercollegiate Athletic Association, to be held at the Fifth Avenue Hotel Saturday, will be the formation of an alliance between the Governing Board over College Athletics and the Amateur Athletic Union. The bringing about of a closer affiliation between the two great organizations controlling amateur athletic pastimes in this country will, in all probability, be ratified by the collegians. That such an alliance would be of great advantage to both organisations is manifest. College athletes come so closely in touch with the outside amateur world during the holiday season that a uniformity of governing rules has become absolutely necessary for the general welfare of the sport and the time is now pronounced ripe for some impartial understanding which will negative any possibility of future friction.

SMALL-POX SITUATION.

Several New Cases, But Only One Addi-tional Death Reported. The small-pox territory is still confined to the tenement house districts. It is also ignificant to observe that a large propor significant to observe that a large propor-tion of patients have no home. The dis-ease is milder than usual, only five per-sons stricken having died. The fifth was Thurston Johnson, who was sent to the Quarantine Station on Feb. 18 from 1201 Franklin avenue. He died Wednesday

Franklin avenue. He died Wednesday evening.
At the Board of Health meeting Thursday afternoon, Dr. Homan said an attempt would be made to devise better means of transporting patients to the quarantine, station. If the river was open a boat could be run. This is now impracticable and the Iron Mountain railway may be asked to haul the small-pox patients. The distance is fourteen or fifteen miles and the roads are very rough. It is thought that measures could be taken to prevent the railway terminals from becoming infected. A special ambulance car could be used, and it need not approach the tracks used by the passenger trains. The matter remains, however, to be discussed.

The new cases were: Robert Craven, Eleventh and Morgan streets; Robert Stockton, a white printer, without permanent place of abpde; Nathan Pitts, homeless; Samuel Brown, 124 Center street, All are colored except Stockton. The first two named were taken from the City Hospital, the others were sent from the City Dispensary.

In compliment to our efficient Police Department we will add that the strong arm of the law in the person of Detective Bambrick, aided by other members of the force, placed the gentlemen of "absorbing" qualities be
